Generation 4 (con't)

Her mother had moved to Dallas, Dallas County, Texas to live with her Aunt Levada, just a few months before Nawana was born. When she was about four months old, her Grandfather Douglas, decided it was time for her and her mom to move back home. So he hitched up the wagon and drove to Dallas, to pick them up. According to her Aunt Nellie, when they arrived home they laid Nawana on the bed and they said that she looked just like an Indian baby. Her biological father was named Harrison Stubbs. (Her mother, Inez, had told me the name of Nawana's real father in June 1992.) Her mom married William Andrew Cook when Nawana was about four years old. He was the only father she ever knew. She never met her real father, however she did see him a few years before her death. She lived in Sulphur Springs, Hopkins County, Texas until shortly after she got married. Her husband was in the military and they had to wait a short time before she could join him.

She was baptized into the Catholic Church shortly after marrying her husband. She knew it was important to Bob, so she went through all the training and became a Catholic as a special gift to him. It was a complete surprise to him.

She died of Cancer of the Pancreases on February 6, 1976 at the age of 42 years, 10 months and 19 days. She is buried at San Fernando Mission Cemetery, San Fernando, California.

Her husband had told her that if she ever wanted to talk to him from heaven, to do so with colored lights. On the day of her funeral, there was a rainbow which led the procession all the way from Victorville, San Bernardino County, California to San Fernando, Los Angeles County, California. Her family believed that it was her way of letting them know that she was with them.

Marriage Notes:

I met your mother in Dallas. She was working at Neiman Marcus at the time. She was living in a rented room. I accutally met her in a Walgreens store. When we married we moved into her romm which had kitchen privileges. We paid 25 dollars for the room and had 25 dollars for food for the month. She never once complained about that or anything else.
