By Marilyn Cox, Hawkins, TX, corrected by Jynelle Caffey:

Grice was a small community near the Wood and Upshur County lines, named for John J. Grice who was the first postmaster. He also owned a store in the community. He and his wife Lucinda Johnson Grice had three sons and four daughters. The daughters were Ann, Mary, Sarah Lucinda and Rosa. The story told by a number of family members about Taylor and Eli Tucker marrying the older girls and following their deaths, marrying the younger sisters, is not all true. Francis Ann married an Echols and moved to Oklahoma. Taylor's first wife was not a Grice, but after her death, he did marry Rosa Grice. Eli Tucker did marry first Mary J. Grice and following her death he married Sarah Lucinda. His marriages are recorded in Wood County Marriage Records. Also, see PAF files of the LDS Church.

The Tuckers were said to be part German and the Grices part Cherokee, but no proof of this Indian heritage has been found by family researchers.

Sherry Willis Johnson:

John J. Grice is buried in Oklahoma. He is said to have gone there where his daughter, Ann Tucker Echols, lived to work cutting cross ties. He became ill and died there. He is said to be buried with the Echols family members at Holly Creek Cemetery. According to Clive, the Red River was at flood stage at the time of his death and his body could not be returned to Texas. See his family history below.

Huel C. Tucker, Upshur County Texas, A Sesquientennial History, THE GRICE FAMILY, Taylor Publishing Co., Inc., Dallas, TX, 1996, pp 143-4:

John Jackson Grice was born about 1834 in Meriwether County, Georgia, on a farm about five miles west of Warm Springs. He was the oldest child of William W. and Lucinda Gray Grice who were married in Pike County, Georgia, in 1832. The Grices lived on a sixty-eight acre farm which was one third of Lot 115, 1828 Georgia Land Lottery, granted to the orphans of Gabriel Grice, who lived in Walton County. Court records of Meriwether County show that William was the oldest of three orphans: William, Nathaniel and Nancy. William Grice was born about 1810 in South Carolina or Georgia, and Lucinda Gray was born about 1810 in Georgia. She was the daughter of Seaborn B. Gray who was a state senator from Tallapoosa County, Alabama, in the 1840s. Prior to 1850, William and Lucinda moved to Chambers County, Alabama, and by 1860 he had followed his brothers, Nathaniel, and Seaborn B. Gray to Tallapoosa County. However, his oldest two sons, John and James N., had married by then and remained in Chambers County.

John married Lucinda I. Johnston, daughter of Oliver Johnston, on January 9, 1854, at the home of her father. Lucinda was born about 1833 in Jones or Dekalb County, Georgia. About 1867, John Grice and his father moved their families to Texas and settled on the east side of Wood County. In 1883 John and Lucinda Grice bought a tract of land at Hammel's Chapel adjacent to their daughter and son-in-law, Sarah and Eli Tucker. John built a store and operated it until about 1905. In 1891 a post office was authorized for that area, and it was put in Grice's store with John Grice as postmaster. During the time the post office existed, the community became know as "Grice" and after the post office was closed, the name continued to be used. In researching her family genealogy, my wife, Clarine, and I interviewed Mrs. Florence and her sister, Miss Schrum, in Rhonesboro for information on the Florence family. When they discovered that I was a great-grandson of John Grice, they wanted to talk about him and his store. One of them said, "We knew him better than our own father. Every day after school we stopped at the Grice store to buy candy."

(*Probably Mrs. Mack Florence and Ms. Era Schrum who was an old maid school teacher, my teacher at Harmony, 1943-44? There were two Florence families, one on either side of the road. One was a lawyer in Gilmer, I think. Mother taught at Rhonesboro when I was in the first and second grade, before we moved to Grice. We lived in a house near the Florence's and Schrum's. Also, Uncle Jewel Byrd's in-laws, the La Rue's, lived on the same road which was on the way to the school house.)

Children born to John and Lucinda Grice were: William, born 1855, Frances Ann, born 1857, and Mary Jane, born 1859 in Chambers County, Alabama; Sarah Lucinda, born July 4, 1861 and John N., born 1862 in Tallapoosa County, Alabama; Rose Ella, born November 29, 1871 and Edward Gray, born 1873 in Wood County, Texas. William and Frances Ann, who married Sam Echols, moved to Oklahoma near Broken Bow. Mary Jane married Eli Jackson Tucker in 1880 in Wood County and died within a few months. Eli then married Mary Jane's sister, Sarah Lucinda, and they had twelve children, several of whom were born at Grice. They eventually settled at Honey Creek in Wood County near the Upshur line.

The twelve children of Eli and Sarah Lucinda Grice Tucker were Icey Dora Moore, Mary Jane (Mamie) Byrd, Pearl (Pearlie) Moore, William Jackson, George, twins Levi and Leva Killian, Uriah Taylor, Minnie Minerva Shaffer, Rosa Ritchie (sic Richie), Isaac and Loraine Bennet (sic Lorene Bennett), Mary Jane and her husband, Abraham S. Byrd, owned the Byrd Pottery near Rhonesboro until they retired and their son John Byrd moved it to Tyler. In her later years, Sarah Grice Tucker spent most of her time piecing quilts which she gave to her grandchildren. By the time she died in 1944, Sarah had given four quilts to each of her sixty or more grandchildren. Rose Ella Grice married Uriah Taylor Tucker, brother of Eli, and raised their family in Upshur County. Their children were John, Anderson, Delia Loyless Lona Dunkel (?), Nunie Welchel, Ester Choate, Ella Pynes and probably others. Edward Gray Grice married (1) Hester Elizabeth Young and their children were Carl Edward, Mary Lucinda Gist and Lela Frances Williamson. He married (2) Mrs. Maude May Edwards Barker and their children were Edward, Glenover Bryant and Aubra Gray. Lucinda Grice died May 23, 1890, and is buried in the Grice Cemetery beside her daughter, Rose Ella, and Uriah Taylor Tucker. Lucinda is the only person of the Grice name buried there. John J. Grice died in 1907 while visiting his daughter in Broken Bow, Oklahoma. The Red River was at flood state, and his body could not be returned to Grice, so he was buried on the Echols' farm near Broken Bow.

The author, Huel C. Tucker, is the son of Uriah Taylor and Vera Mitchell Tucker, and the grandson of Eli and Sarah Grice Tucker. He married Clarine Smith, daughter of David Franklin and Myrtis Castle Smith of the Indian Rock community on June 6, 1948. The six sons of Taylor and Vera Tucker are Harold C., Gerald Delbert, Huel Clive, Norman Taylor, Derry Ernest and Stephen Dwayne.

The records of the National Archives, U. S. Postal Service, Volume 71B, ca 1890-1904, show that John J. Grice was appointed postmaster of Grice on 28 April 1890. His appointment was extended several times and ended on 2 August 1901.

Notes for Patsy Odessel Grice:

General Notes:

Patsy was the kind of mother that every child should have. She was at home when they were in school, cared where her children were at, and who they were with. She took the time to play with her children, they took her outside in a snowstorm once and pushed her down and rubbed her face in it and she thought it was great fun. She had a water fight one summer with her kids and the fight made its way into the house and they were all in trouble when Wayne came home. She was taken from us at an early age with lung cancer. She was special! Patsy is buried in Topeka, Kansas in Rochester Cemetery.
